INTRODUCTION

Most leaders are focused on the bare minimum required to run businesses: increasing employee output, turning in profits and maximizing shareholder value.

This workshop focuses on the inner life of the leader and particularly on the mental model they use to deal with situations in their work lives, the deep-rooted cultural and spiritual values of India that are increasingly relevant in modern workplaces. Leadership Clinic addresses the 99% of untapped potential of leadership. It builds on two decades of empirical research and experiential understanding of transformational leadership in all six continents of the world. Participants will themselves be inspired and learn how to inspire others so they achieve more than they ever thought they could. You will be given a powerful and proven set of tools and instructed in their use. When you practice using them and become proficient enough that they will become second nature, that is when you will find that the transformation has already occurred.

OBJECTIVE

At the end of the workshop the participants should have the understanding of:

- How to solve their most persistent problems relating to leading themselves and others
- Examine crucible experience from their personal lives that will shape their identity as leaders.
- Learn to practice a proven set of tools that will help them grow lifelong as high performing leaders

CONTENT

- Solving your most persistent problems
- Managing time and stress in a VUCA world
- Authenticity: closing the gap between you and your reality
- Productivity: Organizing a day in your life
- Connectivity: Creating emotional resonance

PEDAGOGY

The workshop will be delivered through conceptual and experiential learning by engaging participants through a wide variety of learning tools and techniques.
